VOL. XX.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1898.

NO. 11.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers of Bath county are hereby notified that the tax for the year 1898 have been made out and placed in my hands. You are therefore notified to call at my office and settle.

J. M. ATCHISON, S. B. C.

Next Monday will be October County Court day.

A new line of ready-made skirts very cheap at Mrs. Estill's.

J. M. Richart bought, on Salt Well, Walter Shrou's tobacco at 6c.

Go to Mrs. Estill's and see those nice capes from $1.50 up.

Born, Sept. 30th, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Killpatrick, a son, their second-born.

At the new shades in dress goods at rock bottom prices. Mrs. Estill.

See new ad. of the old reliable Blue Grass Nurseries, of Lexington, in this issue.

J. Clay Donnan wants to purchase 38 bushels of good rye. Any one having same write him.

Rev. A. R. Buckner, of Cynthiana, will preach at Springfield Church at 11 o'clock a. m. the 3d Sunday, October 16th.

A nice Gingham or best quality Calico Dress Pattern with every $5 cash purchase at Mrs. Estill's.

Rev. Rollie Alfrey will preach at Thomas Shrou's, near the tollgate on the Preston pike, Saturday night and Sunday.

For SALE.—A lot of good shingles. F. SLESSEK, Olympia, Ky.

C. C. Hazelrigg will move his corn mill to the lot where the buildings burned last Friday. He will rebuild the stable, etc.

My millinery line is complete, and I have all the new things in that department. Mrs. Estill.

Dr. G. W. Conner's stallion J. S. Brown took the blue ribbon at the Shaysburg Fair in the sweepstakes ring for the best stallion of any age.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—In order to close up my old business, I desire all who are indebted to me to call and settle at once. R. T. GAULT.

Newton Johnson has decided to continue in the merchandise business at Grange City, Ky., and is in the city this week making his fall purchases. Look out for bargains.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c. feb20

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.—Remaining in the Owensville Postoffice, Oct. 5, 1898: Miss Ellen Peters, Miss Fenton Warner, Miss Annie Rice, Willie B. Prather, Irene Corbin.

J. N. BRONK, P. M.

You can buy your goods cheaper at Mrs. Estill's than any place in town, and then she will give you a nice dress pattern with every $5 cash purchase.

The officers of the Christian Church showed good judgment in re-employing Elder T. S. Tinsley as pastor for the ensuing year, on an increased salary. He has greatly endeared himself to the people of this section.

I will give as a premium the season to the best colt sired by the noted stallion J. S. Brown, to be determined by disinterested judges at a show of the colts here October County Court day.

Dr. G. W. CONNER.

Lawrence O. Kimbrough bought of L. A. Goodpaster's heirs a lot 100 feet front and 375 feet deep, adjoining the new residence lot of Howard C. Guggell at the west end of town, for $400. He will have a residence built on it at once.

NEW BUTCHER SHOP.—We have opened out a meat store on Court street and will sell the best class of meats. Best beefsteak 10c per lb. Tour trade solicited.

G. M. DONALDSON & Co.

SHORT HORSE SOLD.—Hon. A. W. Bason sold to Charles E. Manley, of Fairmont, Marion county, West Virginia, three Short Horn cattle for a total of $425: one Horn of Sharon cow for $200, a Phyllis cow for $150, and a Kirklevington weanling male calf for $75.

CHANGED DATE.—Bath County Court, Sept. 27th, 1898.—It is ordered that the Final Court shall meet Friday, Oct. 14th, 1898, instead of Tuesday, Oct. 4th. This change is made on account of Circuit Court being in session Oct. 4. A copy attested.

J. T. PETERS, Clerk.

Lecture.—Elder W. D. France delivered a lecture at the Christian Church on Thursday afternoon on the subject "The Seven Churches of Asia." Fair-sized audiences attended the lectures and enjoyed them much. He is 77 years old, but his voice is strong. All the books he had with him were sold. He is a native of Mason county, Ky., and practiced law 37 years. He is the author of five books and has sold 6,000 of his latest work, "Reminiscences." He makes his home now at Ocean Side, California. He went from here to Salt Lake.

REWARD.—Strayed from my pasture a pale red steer, as well as I remember his color; dehorned, and will weigh about 850 pounds. Any one returning said steer to me will get a reward of five dollars.

J. CLAY DONNAN.

NEW JEWELRY STORE.—Tinder & Company have purchased from C. W. Nesbitt his two-story brick building on Court street. The building will be extended back 14 feet and remodeled throughout with a plate glass front. Mr. Tinder, who will manage the business of the firm, is an optician of reputation. We welcome the new enterprise to our city and predict for them a successful future. Everything will be in readiness for business by the first of the year.

T. S. Shrou will not be understood: Hardwood Bedsteads, $1.60; Hardwood Sides, $2.50; 3-slat Cane-seat Penitentiary Chairs, 55c; Ladies' Oak Sewing Rockers, $1; Bed-springs, $2; Cotton-top Mattresses, $2.50; Extension Tables 60c per foot; Solid Oak Dressers, $7.50. Everything guaranteed. Cash or credit. 5 per cent off for cash.

THE SICK.—J. R. Brother is about holding his own.

R. S. Estill is convalescing. He was removed Tuesday to the home of his father, W. S. Estill, near Wyoming.

Mrs. E. S. Estill is complaining. She was taken to the home of her father, I. B. Conners, on lower State Creek.

Mrs. Felix Tackett, of Upper Prickly Ash, is about the same.

THE PROTRACTED MEETING.—Elder Ruel's meeting at the Christian Church closed Wednesday night of this week. The additions to the church were 8, 1 by baptism. The whole church was interested more than ever before. The offerings were the largest ever before taken up for any purpose, there being nearly 100 gifts. The preaching was of the highest order. Elder Ruel's sermon was a masterpiece of sound sense and Scriptural illustration. He is an earnest worker and an orator. His sermons here will do a great deal of good.

CATTLE SALES.—B. M. Goodpaster sold to J. B. Embury 31 export cattle at $4.60.

J. B. Embury's purchases of export cattle: west of town, of John W. Dawson, 25 at $4.60; of Lewis W. Young, Jr., 5 at $4.60; in town, of J. M. Richart, 50 at $4.60.

Wm. T. Warner weighed up to George & Carroll Hamilton Saturday twenty-five 1,136-lb. feeding steers at $1.25; sixteen 933-lb. same at $1. They were previously contracted for.

John L. Vico bought of Latham & Crockett of Prickly Ash, fifteen 900-lb. heifers at $3.50.

Mrs. Mary Goodpaster's DEATH.—Mrs. Mary ("Aunt Pop") Goodpaster, after long suffering, died of cancer in the breast Saturday night, Oct. 1st, 1898, at her home, 1st. The interment was made at the Old Virginia burial ground Sunday. Deceased was aged 84 years. She was a daughter of John Barber and a sister of Capt. George and the late Landers Barber. Capt. George Barber, of Fleming county, is the only one of his father's children living. Mrs. Goodpaster was first married to Paul Naylor, five children were born of the union: Paul, Alf, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Goodpaster, Mrs. Sarah Jacobs and Mrs. Sinead Goodpaster. Her second marriage was to James Goodpaster, who died several years ago.

SAMUEL TEAL'S DEATH.—Samuel Teal died of consumption at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Manley, in Mt. Sterling, at 5 o'clock p. m. Sunday. The remains were brought here and interred Tuesday afternoon. Deceased was a native of this town and was aged forty-four years. He was a son of John Teal, deceased, and a brother of Charles E. Teal, of Preston, the well-known blacksmith. Samuel was a blacksmith also and quite a good workman. He had made his home mostly at Mt. Sterling, and other points the latter years of his life. He was twice married. He had two or more children by his first wife, from whom he was divorced. He married his second wife within the past year down in the Shaysburg vicinity. She survives him.

FIRE-CISTERN SUBJECT AGAIN.—Last Friday's fire gives warrant to THE OUTLOOK to again bring up the subject of building cisterns over town to store water for fire-fighting purposes. With the fire-engine in proper order and a cistern in that vicinity some of those buildings could have been saved. The fire-engine will not pump water successfully from a deep well, nor are wells always accessible. Hence, without a carefully arranged system of town cisterns there is liable at any time to get a headway beyond control from lack of a sufficiency of water convenient and readily pumped by the engine. It is not true economy to refrain from providing adequate means to fight fire. The town has gone to the expense of buying an engine, and it can well afford the cost of a series of cisterns for fire-fighting purposes exclusively. In seasons of drouth there is hardly enough water for household use, and a fire at those seasons could almost destroy the town unless water was to be provided by some such means as the cisterns mentioned.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The fall term of the Bath Circuit Court convened Monday. The grand jury is composed of the following citizens:—

E. H. Goodpaster, Foreman; A. B. Barnes, Charles Snodgrass, G. W. McKinnon, Ballantyne, G. D. Stephens, Wm. Henderson, Wm. Hawkins, John Hendrick, Toliver Snelling, Isaac Hunt and Thomas P. Honaker.

The petit jury is George Kerr, Jas. Williams, T. W. Crouch, Spencer Boyd, Jno. A. Daugherty, Robt. Shields, Alt. Corbin, A. G. V. Cook, J. Will Horemann, L. M. Chaney, James Clark, James Moore, Chas. Williams, C. A. Brown, Mark Donaldson, Mason Botta, Henry Johnson, John Guggell, Charles Wilson, Jr., W. W. Bowen, G. A. Shrou, Wm. Snedegar, John W. Corbin.

FIRE IN TOWN.—About 7:30 o'clock last Friday morning fire broke out, from a supposed defective flue, in a tenant house belonging to C. C. Hazelrigg and situated at the northeast corner of Sudthut and Water streets (the intersection usually called "The Culvert"). The alarm was a comparatively long time reaching the business part of the town, and the fire engine was slow in being brought out. When the engine did get to the fire the valves were dry and wouldn't work until they were put in order. Meantime the flames made rapid progress, and four wooden tenant houses, all abutting on each other, were fast saving. From them Mr. Hazelrigg's stable, across a narrow lot, caught fire, and it, a corn-crib and buggy-shed, all under one roof, were consumed. Colored people occupied the houses and saved much of their goods. The loss is only a few hundred dollars on the buildings, but they were a remunerative property, bringing Mr. Hazelrigg $16 per month rent. The engine finally got to working, and some fanning was put out with it.

PALMER-SORRELL.—Rev. M. T. Chandler, of Bethel, united Mr. Oscar Palmer, of this town, and Miss Lettie Sorrell in matrimony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Sorrell, of Lower Flat Creek, at 5 o'clock p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 28th, 1898. Miss Lettie Sorrell was bridesmaid, and Mr. Ed Hewitt was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer came to town the same evening, had supper and stopped at the Owensville Hotel over night. The next day they became guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hendrix, staying until they got preparations made for going to house-keeping on State Avenue.

The bride is very handsome, of excellent parentage, and we doubt not is a very fine young lady, skilled and accomplished according to the best standards of young womanhood.

Mr. Palmer is an exemplary young man, and everybody most has a good word to say for him. He is a fine mechanic and machinist. He had charge of the electric-light works here since early spring and he gives superior services.

THE OUTLOOK heartily congratulates Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and wishes them all prosperity and domestic felicity.

STATE NEWS.

Look here, OUTLOOK, if Old Crimp doesn't come along right away and freeze the life out of some of these disease germs the doctors will have us all in their inside pockets.

Uncle Johnnie Darnell has presented himself with a new buggy. What's the matter, Uncle? Well, the shadows of life are now beginning to fall toward the East. The years are beginning to weigh upon him and his good wife less lightly, and a good buggy is now needed to wheel along toward the shores of the fathomless western deep.

Yes, "South Side," old "Speck" got a chance to spread herself and she did it. Speck was a faithful old hen. Her duty was before her and she didn't back down. Something had to spread and so she spread herself. We wouldn't think of raising a fuss with old Speck. The circumstance you mention about the young lady who married a man who drank, against the advice of parents, whose husband sank into the pit of gambling and drunkenness, and who was denied a divorce by the courts, is really lamentable when looked upon from one side, and not so bad when looked at from the other side. When misfortune's blighting hand falls with merciless stroke upon man or woman we cannot behold the scene with ease than pity. Had reason held away over blind impulses, she might have engaged herself for a year with the understanding that he should give up drink or her. That would have been fair to both parties. But love is ever blind and she made a fatal mistake. Yet when she made it, had love been true to its mission, she would have gone down into the midnight blackness of perdition clinging tenderly to the torn garments of her fallen idol and there amid the poisonous flames in which devils hold hell carnival true love would have left the crimson curtains of a lingering farewell; instead she goes to the courts and asks permission to abandon him upon whom her noblest, greatest gift has been bestowed, and the court justly refused to grant it.

In that particular instance man and woman both lost. Let us find another instance: Not many years ago in this county there lived a young man whose habits were vicious in the extreme. He was almost a common drunkard, but he was good-hearted, true to his friends and possessed many many qualities which people could never see because he drank. One day he met a true, good, sensible woman and married her with the promise to reform. You can't find a happier couple anywhere today, nor can you find a staidier man.

Another instance: A young preacher from the Lexington Bible College whose talents were praised and whose merit met ready recognition married a young lady in one of the best families in the country. For some reason he stumbled and although he made repeated efforts to catch and hold up he fell before the eyes of sorrowing friends, a weeping wife and a bright healthy group of children. Long, lonely and patient has been the vigil of that true woman and it is believed that better days are yet in store for her when her shattered idol is tully restored. These instances are facts. They simply show, as many others do, that a woman never knows exactly what is going to be the result of her matrimonial venture, that a man knows less and the community in general knows nothing at all. After the experiment is tried everybody knows the result, just as we know which horse has won when the race is over. The wisest, the "What did I tell you's," the "I told you so's," all know beforehand, and these people who take old Father Time by the forelock and turn him a few somersaults and then in either case let us go back to the original subject. We mentioned girls who were not marriageable, permit us to present one who is a really marriageable girl, and one you will surely like. She is a modest, unpretentious miss, neat and tidy, but not gaudy, medium height, no difference about the color of the eyes so they ain't leather, nor about the hair so it ain't a lightning' bug red, just simply a sweet, lovable everyday girl who has pluck enough to try to rise from ungenial surroundings and who pays more attention to the adornment of her mind than she does to other girls' dresses and finger rings, and who is just sufficiently independent to try to make a living for herself by teaching, sewing or other work and whose integrity is as unquestionable as the superlative height of the Himalayas.

Scrap.

THE KIND OF MEN NEEDED.—The great want of the age is men, men who are not for sale, men who are honest, sound from center to circumference, true to the heart's core, men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe, in themselves as well as others, men whose consciences are as steady as the needle to the pole, men who will stand by the right though the heavens totter and the earth reels, men who can tell the truth and look the devil right in the eye, men who neither flag nor flinch, who have courage without shouting, men in whom the current of everlasting life runs still deep and strong, men who do not cry nor cause their voices to be heard on the streets, but who will not fall nor be discouraged till judgment be set in the earth, men who know their messes and tell it, men who know their places and fill them, men who will not lie, men who are not too lazy nor too proud to be poor, men who are willing to eat what they have earned and what they have paid for.—Exchange.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE TIMBER.

As directed by an order of Court, I will, on Thursday, Oct. 27th, 1898, in the city of Lexington, Kentucky, at the Court-house, offer at public auction:—
